

Making the Transition from School to Homeschool

Why are we choosing to homeschool?

What are we looking forward to the most?

What makes us nervous to homeschool?

Who is in our support system? What groups have we or will we join?

After prayer and discussion, this is our vision and mission for our homeschool.

Making the Transition from School to Homeschool

What hours are we dedicating to homeschooling? What days will we homeschool?

Are we planning on joining any co-ops or social groups? When do these meet/how much time out of the week will these require?

Are there people in our family who are unsupportive? How can we approach them? How will we handle their objections?

What have we already done? What needs to be completed?

- Formally withdraw our child from the school (HSLDA has forms; look online)
- Get a copy of any records the school has on our child
- File our Affidavit of Intent to Homeschool if independently homeschooling (need copy of birth certificate and signed and notarized affidavit)
- Look at different learning styles and choose what the best fit is for our child and household
- Begin to look at various companies that sell resources for that learning style

Making the Transition from School to Homeschool

Tips I will use to take by doubtful thoughts captive and replace the lies with the Truth:

Other notes and rambling thoughts that enter my mind:

 Pam Spinker